

FAZL ALI COLLEGE JOURNAL

A Peer-Reviewed Multidisciplinary Journal

The multi-faceted connectivity of today's world requires multidisciplinary journals that engage in a pivotal role while navigating research and advancing knowledge. The point of convergence that this platform provides, fosters holistic problem-solving and innovation, especially when addressing global challenges of various kinds. The multidisciplinary aspect of such a journal ensures that it grows and fosters learning in the interdisciplinary changes of education today. As research problems increasingly encompass multiple domains, this beacon helps ensure that findings are accessible and relevant to a broader academic and policy-making audience.
